

CANADIAN CREDIT QUESTIONNAIRE

Canada has many federal tax deductions and credits you can claim. Review this list and indicate the ones you might be eligible for.

I think the following credits and deductions might apply to me...	Yes/No/ Unsure	Explanation
RRSP contributions
First Home Savings Account (FHSA) Contributions
Union and professional dues
Child care expenses (daycare expenses for two income families)
Disability related deductions and credits (there are several of these)
Moving expenses
Support payments made to a former spouse
Interest paid to earn investment income
Brokerage and investment advisory fees
Employment expenses
Caring for disabled family members who are financially dependent on you
Credits for firefighters and search and rescue volunteers
Purchase of a first home (or a first home in the last 5 years)
Home accessibility expenses (assisting mobility, reducing risk of harm)
Adoption expenses
Subscription to Canadian journalism (newspaper or magazine)
Student loan interest
Tuition fees and educational expenses (your own)
Tuition fees and educational expenses (child or grandchild)
Medical, dental, vision expenses incl. insurance (must be > 3% of your income)
Charitable donations
Political donations
Educator's school supplies		